Most companies review their sales compensation plans for the new fiscal year. Your company is changing its products and target customers. Customers are changing their buying practices. Ensure your pay programme and quota system aligns with your business objectives. Follow David's proven method to design aligned and motivational sales pay programmes. If you want to craft a great sales compensation plan, follow the steps he will provide you in this course. Your sales team and company need a winning sales compensation programme.

YOUR INSTRUCTOR

We are delighted to announce David Cichelli as your instructor. Serious students of sales compensation have benefitted from David's writings, speeches and classes. His clients excel in revenue performance. His best-selling book, Compensating the Sales Force, remains a core handbook for those working in sales rewards. Based in Arizona, David's experience, knowledge and highly-practical insights into sales compensation shine through in his work.

David has had the pleasure to instruct thousands of students and support leading sales teams across the globe as they learn, develop and implement best-in-class sales compensation plans.

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

- We begin with an overview of sales compensation drivers, types of sales jobs and sales compensation principles.
- We provide a focus on the sales compensation challenges of small sales teams.
- We look at formula types: what-works-when.
- Formula engineering goes backstage to reveal how to calculate incentive pay-out rates.
- Finally, we provide examples of formula designs.

BENEFITS

David's world-renowned wisdom will help drive your sales growth objectives by creating best-in-class sales compensation programmes.

- Follow the process David will provide to:
 - identify target compensation
 - set the pay mix
 - determine upside earnings potential
 - select and weight the right measures and configure the formula to reward sales objectives.
- Ensure the plans are fiscally aligned.
- Learn how to use and construct advanced formula methods such as hurdles, multipliers and matrices.
- Finally, see seven illustrations of sample plan designs that follow best-in-class formula design methods.
